The DIMMER VIEW

More Freedom for Policemen

Do individual members of the U. S. Supreme Court really appreciate the mischief they have wrought by some of their far-out decisions?

These decisions affect every community — including this one.

One of these decisions could have snuffed out the life of two area family men last week.

That these men are still alive is no thanks to Supreme Court. The men are sheriff's deputies who were performing the duties for which the public pays and which the law and their superiors spell out.

This duty is more complicated because the Court has ruled that police officers, generally, may not perform a field search on suspected criminals. It would be simply awful, the Court indicates, if some innocent person who looked like a crook happened to get a shakedown. Even if this should happen only once in ten thousand times, it is depriving that person of his Constitutional right not to be searched. By that measure it is giving thousands of criminals license to do their thing with freedom from questioning by officers.

There is about one chance in ten thousand that a cop can catch a criminal in the act of committing a crime against person or property. Yet that is what the Supreme Court suggests by the requirement that practically no speculative field shakedown be performed.

If an innocent citizen is searched and his psyche thus bruised, there is reason to believe that he would still be first to subscribe to the pre-Court regulation because it is his property and person getting better protection.

Since the Court's decision all but rules out the field shakedown, officers face, at the least, severe reprimands from their superiors for infraction of this ruling. If the investigating officer fails to make a charge stick, he may also face a civil suit.

On the other hand, when this control is obeyed, it can spell death for the arresting officer. A suspect might be carrying a concealed weapon. How can the officer ascertain this without shaking him down? The criminal is often willing to use his weapon if a situation arises by which he has hopes of escaping from the jam he is presently in.

Many will recall the tragic slaying of California Highway Patrol Officer Merle Kissinger who was shot to death in the North County by a traffic violator a couple of years back. The violator had been arrested and deposited in the patrol car. He pulled a hidden gun and shot the officer. While the Supreme Court's ruling came after Kissinger's death, it is an illustration of how violent a weapon-carrying suspect becomes, and it spells out the need for field search.

The tragedy might have been reenacted last week except for a quirk of fate. The quirk was that the suspect had taken the trouble to dump cartridges from a revolver he has just stolen but the gun was concealed on his body at the time he was picked up as a burglary suspect. Few persons involved in crime will take the trouble to empty the chamber of his gun while in pursuit of his profession. It will never happen again in the officers' lifetime.

But it happened to the two sheriff's deputies when they thought they recognized a California Youth Authority parolee at a Chula Vista bus stop.

The parolee, Louis Martinez Garcia, 20, answered the description of a man who had just burglarized a school teacher's home in the immediate vicinity.

Detectives Robert Torbett and Robert Ring, assigned to the burglary discovered a window screen cut and a window shoved open. The teacher was not at home. Neighbors who had reported the incident, supplied a description of a suspect seen in the vicinity at the time.

The officers searched the area thoroughly without results until they saw Garcia at the bus stop.

Aware of the Court's recent decision, the suspect was returned to the scene of the burglary for identification. He offered no resistance. When Garcia's story produced some loopholes, he was searched.

His first statement was "I've got a gun." — and he had. It was concealed in his belt at his belly. It was a police revolver he had obtained in a burglary just before he entered the teacher's home.

He could have shot the two officers enroute to the scene of the burglary — if he had left the gun loaded and if an opportunity presented itself, and if he so desired.

Hazards, such as this, was not intended to be part of the rules governing the art of policing. Over-protection of the criminal has been a growing obstacle to efficient law enforcement and this stupid ruling only produces freedom from arrest for thousands of criminals.

Officers Torbett and Ring will get no commendation for their restraint in searching Garcia. They went from that duty to whatever was next on their assignment sheet without regard for the fact that there might have been two widows and children in fatherless homes under slightly different circumstances.

A search isn't particularly embarrassing. Particularly if a law abiding citizen appreciates the vigilance of officers who are sworn to protect him and his property. The cases of mistaken shakedowns in the field are few. Their effect on crime is great.

The Court should reverse itself on this issue.

It would be a great miscarriage of justice if less dedicated officers were to pass up investigations such as the one involving Garcia rather than to take a chance on being gunned down or knifed.

Garcia was booked in County Jail September 29 on a burglary charge.

Stevenson Resigns

James M. Stevenson, after an acquittal in a controversial trial involving marijuana, has resigned from the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Stevenson, 35, a fifth-grade teacher at Rolando Elementary School in Spring Valley, submitted his resignation to the Board of Trustees Monday.

Trustees voted Sept. 2 to dismiss Stevenson within 30 days on charges of "immoral conduct." This came after Stevenson had admitted occasional use of marijuana. Board members never got around to acting on the matter, but now will drop all charges.

Stevenson was arrested in March after a fellow teacher claimed that he sold her a "jig" of marijuana. He pleaded innocent in an April hearing but was suspended by the District in May.

The case came before Superior Court Aug. 25 and Stevenson was acquitted when Judge Joseph A. Kilgariff ruled entrapment in the case.

'Hill & Dale' Route Rejected For College Ave. Extension

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The County Planning Commission on Friday refused to accept a "roller-coaster" route for the alignment of the planned and needed extension of College Avenue from Federal blvd. to 69th st. in Lemon Grove.

The commission heard for 90 minutes an alternate specific plan proposed for the new road by Hilltop Chateau, a retirement home.

A similar series of hearings was held in 1968 by the commission and Board of Supervisors leading to the adoption of the route which will come close to the chateau.

However, in that election year, the board ordered the county engineer to come back with the alternate plan as a specific plan.

The board also ordered hearings of the whole matter again before the commission and board.

The proposed new alignment would wipe out the Bible Presbyterian Church and would cause distress, according to testimony, of others who have built in dependence upon the adopted specific plan.

The recommendation of the engineering department was for the retention of the specific plan now in effect despite the offer of Hilltop Chateau for free rights of way and fill dirt if the alignment was shifted.

Rudy Massman, deputy engineer, said the offer brought the costs to about the same

The county's five-year road plan shows a construction cost of $383,400 planned for fiscal year 1970-71 with a total cost of $704,600 for a 44-foot wide road on 102 feet of right of way.

Massman said the road, if completed now, would be carrying 10,000 cars a day.

Drug Abuse Problem Dropped On Dr. Askew

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Dr. J. B. Askew has been charged with the responsibility of curbing drug marijuana-dope usage in an experimental county program.

Now the county health director has been challenged by as important a test as a man is likely to meet in his life.

Planners Schedule Zone Meet

County Planning Commission announced that it will hold a public hearing on Oct. 17 to consider the adoption and application of a new LC Limited Control Zone.

If adopted, the LC Zone would apply limited zoning regulations to all of the unincorporated territory of the County not presently zoned.

The hearing is scheduled for 9 a.m. in the Board of Supervisors' South Chambers at the County Administration Center.

The adoption of a limited control zone was recently recommended to the Board of Supervisors in a joint report from County Chief Administrative Officer Fred Morey and County Planning Director Dan Cherrier.

The Board requested the Planning Commission to initiate public hearings on the proposed LC Zone.

If adopted, the LC Limited Control Zone would permit one and two-family dwellings, agricultural uses and home occupations on lots or building sites with a minimum area of 2½ acres.

All other uses, including residential development on small lots, mobilehome parks, and commercial and industrial establishments, would be permitted upon issuance of a Special Use Permit with the minimum area depending upon the particular circumstances, but in no event less than 6,000 square feet.

In addition, lots smaller than 2½ acres shown on tentative subdivision maps, or division of land plots (lot splits) approved or filed for approval prior to the adoption of the LC zoning will be considered legal building sites if such lots are recorded within two years after adoption of the LC zoning.

time. His department has been charged with the responsibility of curbing drug marijuana-dope usage in an experimental county program.

The county Board of Supervisors, under the urging of Jack Walsh, put $250,000 in the budget, put the program in the health department (which also serves all cities), and told Askew to go to work.

Askew has appointed Marion T. Bryant, his section chief of health education, to the post of his assistant with the full-time assignment to development of a preventative

L.G. Plans Control Decision Wed.

Lemon Grove residents will have a say in future planning of their community if a public meeting works as it is anticipated.

The meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the Lemon Grove Junior High School at 7:30 p.m. Jim Dorman, local attorney said.

In a letter to the Rev. Ernest Fowler, of the L.G. Congregation church, Dan Cherrier, County Planning Commissioner said that a representative of his department will discuss the proposed community planning program for the Lemon Grove area.

Dorman, and Al Woods, BoA manager, were selected to organize Wednesday's meeting.

A local planning group could

PRE-KICK OFF — The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce's membership drive starts October 20, but the membership committee got energetic and signed up a new member before the every-firm campaign started. New members may also have the fee credited to 1969—or 1970 year—whichever best suits the applicant. During the week of Oct. 20, each chamber board member will contact business-professional firms encouraging them to join.

Resealing Set For S.V. Streets

Three streets in the Spring Valley area will be improved this month according to Harry Scheidle, County Supervisor.

Edgar pl., from Conrad to the cul de sac, in Casa de Oro; Central, from Kenwood to Valencia, in Spring Valley, and Kenwood, from Highway 94 to Central, Spring Valley, will get a slurry seal.

Sim Harris Co. of San Diego was awarded a contract for $11,152.68 for the job. Included are 2.03 miles of resurfacing various streets in Scheidle's District.

Written advance notices will be delivered to residents of the streets affected.

Roads are usually tied up for about four hours during the improvement.

'Intercept' Won't Help Youth, Says Expert

By HAMILTON THOM

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce aren't the only folks uptight about the methods of "Operation Intercept."

One local authority views the clamp-down on the border traffic as solving the problem backwards.

The expert is Dr. George Thomas Gitchoff, assistant professor, school of Public Administration and Urban Studies, San Diego State.

Dr. Gitchoff's recently published book, "Kids, Cops & Kilo" focuses on the problems of middle-class youth and the drug abuse problem.

The book, result of Dr. Gitchoff's contact with youth in a suburban community for three years, has received good reviews on all levels and has been selling well.

In the book, Gitchoff outlines the changes youth has gone through during a three-year period (1966-68) when drugs replaced cars as a teenage topic of conversation.

He was director of a Youth Commission for Pleasant Hill, a northern California community some 30 miles from the San Francisco area.

Operation Intercept is "ill-planned and ill-timed," the author feels.

Gitchoff, 31, points out that the drastic measure resulted more from fear than reason. He explained that the border slow-down isn't even affecting most narcotics, especially the more powerful brands.

"If the government really wants to do something," he asks, "why don't they just spend all this time and money trying to thwart the Mafia? That's where the hard-core drugs come from."

About the only result of the border action, he agreed, is that the marijuana smugglers may lie low for a while.

Although "with all the publicity beforehand, I imagine most of them stocked up for the winter," he said.

Curious teens, meanwhile, with marijuana (the government hopes) in diminishing supply, will continue to seek new "highs" and may turn to speed (methedrine), acid (LSD) or "reds" (seconal).

Why always the need to be high? Today's youth feels ever-increasingly closed in, trapped, is the way Gitchoff explains it.

Advanced technology has increased the amount of schooling needed to get along in the world, but has also increased the amount of information available.

To put it simply, today's youth gets smarter faster but has to wait longer to enjoy responsibility. What happens in between to too many is boredom.

By age 18, the typical youth has attained physical manhood for some 4 to 6 years, has watched an average total of 22,000 hours of television and is eligible to fight a war.

But it is still a three-year wait before a young man can marry without his folks' permission, sign a contract, buy a drink or vote for an elective office other than school cheerleader.

Solutions, says Dr. Gitchoff, may lie with giving the youth the right to vote and other responsibilities, increasing lines of communication to the young and giving out with un-hypocritical, complete information on marijuana, drugs and narcotics.

"The kids today have heard so much garbage about marijuana that they know isn't true," he said, "that information about other narcotics is discredited, too."

Dr. Gitchoff's book is on sale at many local bookstores and newsstands, including all DeFalco's markets.

LG Fire Report

The Lemon Grove Fire Department will observe "Fire Prevention" week, the balance of this week, by observing fire drills at all Lemon Grove schools and inspecting all school fire equipment.

Then on Saturday there will be "Open House" at the Fire Station. All persons are welcome to visit the station and look over the trucks and equipment from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Children must be accompanied by their parents, said Capt. Alexander.

The Department answered two rescue calls and six fire calls during this past week. Here are the two rescue calls:

On Sept. 30 firemen were called to the front of the Post Office, where a car, belonging to P. W. Kreinberg of 7933 Palm ave., had caught fire. As Kreinberg was being questioned regarding the fire, he collapsed. He was taken to a hospital, but was dead on arrival, possibly from a heart attack. The fire in the car (in the engine compartment) was minor.

Oct. 4, Bulah Hawkins, 55, of 1661 Drexel, was given oxygen for impaired breathing and was later taken to a hospital.

FOR LONG SERVICE — Mrs. Joseph Hogan, accountant for the Lemon Grove School District of the past several years, retired after twenty years of service on September 30. Personnel of the district hosted a reception that day in her honor at the Education Center. In the photo are Byron Netzel, district superintendent, Alma Hogan and her husband Joseph.

In attendance, in addition to classified and certificated staff of Lemon Grove schools, were representatives from many other districts in the county with whom she had worked as a leader in the California Association of Public School Business Officials. Mrs. Hogan received a wristwatch and an engraved desk set from local employees. Earlier she was the recipient of a school board resolution praising her contributions to education. She and her husband Joe are the parents of two daughters, both of whom attended Lemon Grove schools. They now plan a trip to Florida where the golf courses of the Sunshine State will make serious demands upon their leisure time.

Dr. Graham To Speak Sunday

Dr. Billy Graham will be guest speaker at the 15th annual Massing of the Colors to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in San Diego Stadium as a salute to the San Diego 200th Anniversary.

The service of remembrance, honoring the dead of all wars, is sponsored by La Jolla Chapter, Military Order of World Wars.

Born in North Carolina and ordained a Southern Baptist minister in 1940, Dr. Graham has held crusades in every state in the United States and in more than 50 foreign countries.

He has written numerous books and has been the subject of several biographies and personality sketches in magazines and newspapers throughout the world.

Dr. Graham holds degrees from Florida Bible Institute and Wheaton College and has received honorary degrees from numerous institutions. His daily column appears in newspapers throughout the nation.

The evangelist has addressed the President's National Prayer Breakfast and has received numerous awards including the gold award of the George Washington Carver Institute.

He has also received the Salvation Army distinguished service medal and was named Man of the Year by Time Magazine.

His weekly radio program, "Hour of Decision," is broadcast by more than 800 stations throughout the world.

In past years, the Massing of the Colors has been held in Balboa Stadium, but this year the site was changed to accommodate the large crowd expected for Dr. Graham's appearance.

The program is being conducted in cooperation with the 200th Anniversary, civic, religious and military organizations and the San Diego Chargers football team which revised its schedule to make the stadium available on Oct. 12.

A choir composed of some 3,000 persons representing various chorals groups throughout the county will participate in the program.

The Naval Training Center 50-state flag team and the Marine Corps Recruit Depot Band will also be featured.

Always and Everywhere

Let no one imagine that it is a strained and unnatural thing for one to pray. The contrary is much closer to the fact. It is far more unnatural for one not to pray. Prayer is one of the most natural of human instincts. Prayer is man's response to the divine will.

LETTERS

Reader Says Valley Strip An 'Eyesore'

Dear Editor:

One of the ugliest corners in San Diego County is in Spring Valley. It is the drag-strip on the corner of Sweet-water and Jamacha rds. It is not only an eyesore but also adds to noise pollution.

Children have been hurt operating these contraptions, so it's also dangerous.

Why orient everything to cars? To motorcycles?

Lets encourage walking and bicycling; they are noiseless and very good for your health.

In Mexico most every town has a charming area called a plaza. Full of trees and grass, it's a wonderful place for girls and boys, senior citizens plus our friends, the birds.

We need sidewalks and special bike lanes for the safety of the students using Sweet-watr rd. to go to school.

Lets really work at making our little townspeople oriented. Lets do away with smog producing noisy vehicles that are unnecessary.

Bus Service Scheduled To Massing Colors

San Diegans planning to attend the Service of Remembrance to be held in conjunction with the 13th Annual Massing of the Colors in San Diego Stadium Sunday, will have more than adequate bus service to and from the stadium.

Tom Prior, general manager of San Diego Transit Corporation, said seven special routes will be provided starting in various parts of the city approximately one hour before the event is scheduled to commence.

The local point from which passengers may leave is College Grove shopping center.

Fare for the one-way trip will be 50-cents. Riders planning to attend the event who will be travelling from other parts of the city can board a regular route bus and transfer to a stadium special at one of the seven locations for the same 50-cent fare. The passenger should advise the regular route driver he wants a "Stadium Special" ticket.

Stadium buses follow special non-stop routes once they are fully loaded and have reserved parking areas at the stadium.

The same express service is provided after the event also for a 50-cent one-way fare with transfer privilege.

Hayes, a man who spent 14 years behind bars, will speak on the "hidden costs of crime" at 7:30 p.m.

A worker for improvement of the Penal Systems and a crusader, Hayes has established himself as an asset to the local community through his efforts.

St. Philip's is located at Palm and Hardy sts. The public is invited.

Church Has Sale

Matadors Disappoint Granite Hills, 18-6

Surprising Mt. Miguel, counted down and out by many Grossmont League followers, refused to roll over and play dead for Granite Hills Friday night.

The high-flying Eagles, picked by many to cop the Grossmont League crown this year, were grounded.

A young man with a name out of a Western dime novel, Billy Joe Winchester, pulled the trigger on the offense and defense that sent the Eagles fluttering.

Winchester, a converted tackle, gained 169 yards on 29 carries at his new fullback slot, and scored one touchdown on a five-yard slash.

A 225-pounder who packs surprising speed and mobility on a 5-10 frame, Winchester also keyed the Matador defense at middle guard.

The Matadors, stirred over last week's 30-0 thumping by Sweetwater, harassed Eagle passer Phil Poniktera into misfiring on all but 7 of 21 pass attempts.

Triple teaming on ace receiver Tim Doerr, Granite Hills' Mr. Everything, held him to only one reception. Matador defenders picked off four of Poniktera's hurried tosses, including a pair of interceptions by Tom Young.

Winchester scored in the first quarter to put the Matadors ahead, 6-0.

Granite Hills rebounded with a touchdown to tie it up at halftime, 6-6.

Miguel, however, scored twice in the second half, to pull away as quarterback Bill Muir found tight end Dave Zimmerman on a 19-yard scoring play, and halfback Larry Caudillo scored on a 1-yard scamper.

Doerr, shut off as a receiver, still found an outlet for his enormous talents.

He punted twice for a 47-yard average, including one 56-yarder, and also returned three punts for 23 yards.

The Matadors, who looked so shoddy against the Red Devils, suddenly could do nothing wrong.

The Eagles, who had looked so good in pre-season and on paper, suddenly find themselves a game behind the leaders and faced with an aroused Monte Vista team to play Friday night.

Mt. Miguel will take on Helix on the Highlanders' turf tomorrow night.

Helix will be trying to bounce back after an unexpected 24-13 trouncing administered by the Monarchs last week.

Backyard Swimmers Keep Busy

28 of the Beginners received their certificates and 7 of the Advanced Beginners received theirs.

Pools for the Program were donated by Alan Snider, Katy Wilson, Grady Lovelady, Dale Blanchard, Ruth Schell, Bud Braeme, John McQuaid, and Tim MacFarland.

The Backyard Swim Instructors were Bennie O'Brien, Pat Welbaum, Sharon Stalaker, Pat Rubicaba, and Terri Simmons. Water Safety Instructors were Jeri Morgan and JoAnn Jacobsen.

Assistant Backyard Swim Instructors were Esther Robinson and Jeannie Riggs. Aides in the Programs were Judy Gould and June Kelly.

Many of the parents of the students helped with babysitting for the Instructors, and as Poolside Supervisors at the pools.

Ventura Tops Griffs, 17-15

Grossmont College football play from week to week in 1969 has varied from excellent to mediocre.

Saturday night Ventura came to town ranked seventh in the nation and favored by two touchdowns.

Once again the Griffs changed their style, and dominated the contest only to lose 17-15 on two long scoring plays in the second half.

About 30 cents out of every dollar earned in England is spent on food.

GRINDING IT OUT — Monte Vista's Carl Weathers crunches into a pair of Helix tacklers as he helped Monarchs drive for score. Curt Babcock (85) and Steve Coover put the brakes to Weathers. Monarchs won, 24-13

Andy Williams Open Set For January

SAN DIEGO — The Century Club of San Diego, sponsoring organization of the Andy Williams San Diego Open, has opened its headquarters in Suite 403, LeBaron hotel.

The third annual Andy Williams San Diego Open is scheduled for Jan. 27-Feb. 1 at Torrey Pines Golf Course.

General Chairman Steve Horrell said the headquarters staff includes Norrie West, executive; Mrs. Lee Cummings, executive assistant; Jim Fox, ticket sales manager.

The big annual golf classic opens with a two-day celebrity Pro-Amateur, followed by the 72-hole, 4-day Open championship that carries a purse of $150,000. Another $15,000 will be paid to pros in the Pro-Am.

Horrell said he was sure Jack Nicklaus, who won with a 284 last January, will be back to defend his title against the full field of touring professionals, including hometowners Billy Casper and Gene Littler.

A Century Club membership drive, began recently, already has produced 135 members for 1970, West said.

An advance ticket sale will get under way in November, with reduced prices for those who buy before the Jan. 17 deadline.

Profits from the AWSDO are divided between Salk Institute and the San Diego County Junior Golf Association.

GC Runners Whip Rivals

Dave Carter led Grossmont College to a 24-31 cross-country win over Southwestern Friday afternoon.

Carter, former Monte Vista High standout, had been off to a slow start this season, finishing well back in one race and not even running another.

But he was back in form at Santee Lakes Friday and trotted over the four-mile course in 20:20.

Brent Wilson was second in 20:29. Joe Mears was fourth in 21:06. Neil Wilson seventh in 21:37 and Steve Gillean 10th in 21:55.

The win gives the Griffs a 2-0 conference mark.

Monarchs, Campoli Stun Helix, 24-13

By SCOTT MCGAUGH

Monte Vista stunned the Grossmont League football race last Friday by manhandling the Helix Highlanders, 24-13 on the winner's field.

It marked the first victory for the Monarchs in their own stadium and the first win for the football squad since 1967.

Vince Campoli, Rob Westcott, and Richard Weathers all were the leading ground gainers for the Monarchs. Campoli gained more on the ground than the entire Helix ground effort.

The Monarchs opened the scoring on a 25-yard run by Rich Weathers and Vince Campoli followed with a three-yard scamper for a 12-0 Monarchs lead at the half.

Campoli then opened the scoring in the second half with a one-yard effort and then followed that with a four-yard effort to give the Monarchs a 24-0 lead.

Helix finally scored in the fourth quarter on one and two-yard runs by Highlander quarterback Steve Coover for the final 24-14 score.

It was the first win for rookie head coach Pat Carroll. Carroll brought an entire coaching staff with him as he has a 19-6 record to his credit in two years at Grossmont.

The Monarchs now are 1-0 and are tied for first place in the Grossmont League — for the first time in the school's history.

The Monarchs will travel to Valley Stadium in El Cajon tomorrow night to face off with an angry Granite Hills squad.

The Eagles, tabbed as league co-favorites by pre-season dopesters, had an unexpected letdown last week when Mt. Miguel bopped them, 18-6.

Star passer Phil Poniktera completed only 7 passes, and just one to ace flanker Tim Tomorrow night's game should establish the Monarchs as genuine contenders or put the Eagles back in the running for the title.

El Capitan, because of unexpected letdowns by Helix and Granite Hills, has emerged as the team to beat.

The Vags, only unbeaten league team, had no trouble knocking off El Cajon Friday, 27-6. Bill Fudge led a crunching ground game that rolled up 230 yards rushing.

Aztecs Top Nation, State In Defense

For the past three years San Diego State's Aztec gridgers have been clamoring for some kind of recognition beyond that of being the NCAA's top College Division team — and now they've got it.

Moved into the University Division by the NCAA this year, the Aztecs have quickly made their presence known. In the first statistical report from the NCAA, SDS tops the nation in two defensive categories and is ranked in the top ten in three offensive sections.

Coach Coryell's crew, thanks to the work of defensive coordinator Claude Gilbert and defensive back coach Ernie Zampese, is leading the nation in total defense and rushing defense. The most spectacular mark is that against the rush — MINUS 9 yards-per-rush and MINUS 50 yards-per-game.

Thanks to the throwing of All-America quarterback candidate Dennis Shaw and backup man Brian Sipe, the Aztecs are rated fourth in passing offense (future SDS foe North Texas State tops the pack). Additionally, San Diego is fourth in scoring average and sixth in total offense.

Gulls Open Story of Cross Country Here On Saturday

The San Diego Gulls open their fourth Western Hockey League season tomorrow night in Salt Lake City, then return to San Diego to open the home half of their schedule the following night, Saturday, against the Phoenix Roadrunners.

The Gulls will officially greet the Salt Lake Golden Eagles tomorrow night. The teams met three times during the exhibition season and the Gulls won all three games by close scores.

Gulls' General Manager Coach Max McNab was impressed with the new Eagles in the games that he saw them play.

"They have good speed and size," he said. "They are going to give everybody a tough time. From what I have seen they don't appear to be short in any department."

The Gulls home opener against Phoenix also figures to be a tough game. The Roadrunners are among the most improved clubs in the WHL.

The Gulls themselves appear to be improved over last season.

Following this week's action, the Gulls will have a week off before facing the Portland Buckaroos at the Sports Arena on Saturday night, Oct. 18.

The schedule:
Friday — Gulls at Salt Lake Golden Eagles; KOGO Radio (600), 6:55 p.m.
Saturday — Gulls vs. Phoenix Roadrunners, Sports Arena, 8 p.m.; KOGO Radio (600), 7:55 p.m.

Saturday, Oct. 18 — Gulls vs. Portland Buckaroos, Sports Arena, 8 p.m.; KOGO Radio (600), 7:55 p.m.

Jr. Pee Wees and the Broncos shut out the Lakeside Lakers 20-0. Coach Vern Torres' defense held the opponents to a single first down. Rex Jenner, Butch Cushman and James Teller scored TD's for the Broncos.

Mustangs lost to a Southbay team, 26-20. Coach Bud Payne was the coach.

POPULATION EXPLOSION — When fourteen runners dig in at the start of a 2.2-mile cross-country run, the traffic resembles rush hour.

The scene is Monte Vista High as the Monarchs and Helix squared off Friday for the possible Grossmont League dual-meet championship. Eventual winner Ed Mendoza (arrow) bolted in front early.

... and rushed to the finish in 10:15 to beat the traffic. Monarch Tom Lux and two teammates swept the next three positions, however, to help Monte Vista to a narrow and controversial 27-28 win ...

Chargers Meet Dolphins Sat.

The San Diego Chargers take a two-game win streak to Miami to meet the dangerous Miami Dolphins at the Orange Bowl Saturday night.

The game will be televised in San Diego by KCST-39 with Bob Chandler announcing and broadcast by Stu Nahan, Johnny Parker and Emil Karas over KDEO and the Charger network at 5 p.m. (PDT).

To be strong at quarterback and middle linebacker is the key to success in pro football, many experts claim. The Dolphins have both — Bob Griese, a highly skillful young quarterback, and Nick Buoniconti, the old Charger nemesis who escaped from Boston this year.

Miami (0-3-1) tied the unbeaten Oakland Raiders, 20-20, last weekend.

Before capacity 52,748 at San Diego Stadium last weekend, the Chargers gained 413 yards in handing tough Cincinnati its first defeat. John Hadl (17 of 27) passed for 238 yards. Lance Alworth caught 8 for 125 and Gary Garrison, 4 for 85 to complement the strong running of Dick Post (19 for 123) and Brad Hubbert (17 for 72).

There were two encouraging developments for the Chargers:

1. Still recovering from his severe knee injury of 1968, Hubbert displayed some of his old-time burst as he set a club record by scoring three touchdowns rushing in one game.

2. The Charger pass rush accounted for six quarterback tackles, a team high for two years. Steve DeLong had three to lift his season's total to six.

... that wasn't decided until films were reviewed Monday. Meanwhile, Helix runner Dennis Rodgers, above, can only reflect on how tired he is.

Matador Harriers Triumph

Mt. Miguel sophomore Bob Morrison broke the course record as he led teammates to a sweep of the top four places and a one-sided cross-country win over Granite Hills, Friday afternoon.

Morrison ran 10:04 on the Eagles' course, or two seconds under what it took Helix' Darryl Simmons to do it in last year.

Runner-up Gary Heiserman tied Simmons' old mark. Middle-distance runner Lex Nelson was third in 10:27, while Joe Stubbs was fourth in 10:29.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Disability Benefits Limited To Workers

Q. I am 67 years old and already receive social security retirement checks. I had a stroke three months ago and cannot work anymore. Can I now draw disability payments?

A. No. Disability benefits are paid to workers only if they became disabled before 65. There is no increase in social security payments if a person becomes disabled after 65.

Q. Can a Medicare beneficiary go to an extended care facility for treatment instead of a hospital?

A. Medicare pays for covered services in an extended care facility only if the patient was in a hospital for three days in a row, or longer. Also, a doctor must order such care for further treatment of the illness for which the patient was hospitalized.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

If you were asked to choose three of the most important verbs in Spanish, which ones would you select?

All verbs are important and the more frequently one uses a given group of verbs the more important they are to that person. However, there are three verbs that describe activities that all of us are involved with each day and I would consider them among the most important. They are "dormir" (to sleep), "comer" (to eat), and "beber" (to drink).

"Dormir" is irregular. This means that the spelling of "dormir" is not consistent when it is conjugated. Instead of saying "dormo" we say "duermo" for "I sleep." The "o" in dormir has been changed to "ue" in "duermo." This is the irregularity.

"Comer" is regular. The first person is "como" (I eat). The "er" ending of "comer" has been removed and "o" has been entered in its place to form "como."

"Beber" is also regular. The "er" ending may be dropped and the letter "o" added to form the first person "bebo" (I drink).

Today's practice phrases listed below contain various forms of "dormir," "comer," and "beber." You may wish to learn to say these phrases with the aid of the automatic recording which says them for you when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone. Try it.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:
Say "¿Dónde duermo usted?" (DOHN-deh doo-EHR-meh oo-STEHD) for "Where do you sleep?"
Say "Yo duermo en casa." (yoh doo-EHR-moh eh KAH-sah) for "I sleep at home."

USEFUL PHRASES:
Say "¿Que come usted?" (keh KOH-meh oo-STEHD) for "What are you eating?"
Say "Yo como papas." (yoh KOH-moh PAH-pahs) for "I am eating potatoes."

OTHER PHRASES:
Say "¿Que bebe usted?" (keh BEH-beh oo-STEHD) for "What are you drinking?"
Say "Yo bebo leche." (yoh BEH-beh LEH-cheh) for "I am drinking milk."

Country Joe, Fish Head Show Sunday

Country Joe and his new Fish, will make his first appearance in San Diego since last November, in a rock festival Sunday.

Joe McDonald, leader of the Fish cheer and a political-rock message, will lead four other musicians, known as Berkeley's house band for years.

The Fish became nationally famous along with other Bay Area groups such as the Jefferson Airplane and Big Brother in the 1967 explosion of the so-called "San Francisco Sound."

The festival, dubbed the "1st Annual West Coast Gnu! Festival" by KPRI, features at least three other groups, including Chicago (Transit Authority), Poco and Merryweather.

Framework, among the better local groups, may also appear.

Country Joe's Fish have

Your Choice: Arlo, Buffy

After a long drought, folk music buffs will have "pastures of plenty" this month.

In fact, it should come down to an interesting coin flip on October 26, when Arlo Guthrie and Buffy Sainte-Marie are in town for concurrent performances.

On the one hand, there's Arlo, impish and irreverent son of revered balladeer Woody Guthrie.

Woody thought nothing of taking on such dragons as big business and drought during his heyday, composing and singing union songs and dust bowl blues.

Arlo is more up to date, throwing spears at the draft, police and FBI. His long talking song, "Alice's Restaurant," since expanded into a feature movie, chronicles Arlo's confrontations with police and the draft board.

Then there's Buffy, a magnificent Cree Indian, spitting out a bitter "Now That the Buffalo's Gone" and "My Country 'Tis of Thy People You're Dying."

Buffy appears at San Diego State College, on Sunday, Oct. 26 at 8 p.m.

Arlo will appear same time, same day at the Civic Center Theater.

Mental Test Ordered For Pill Purveyor

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A 21-year-old Spring Valley man who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the overdose death of a 15-year-old girl has been ordered to undergo a 90-day mental diagnostic study by prison authorities.

He is Martin William Sullivan, 9134 Olive dr., a truck driver.

The girl was found dead in a garage-apartment in San Diego on April 13 and a 16-year-old boy as well as Sullivan was taken into custody.

According to the probation report, Sullivan and the juveniles went to the beach and Sullivan bought 100 Seconal tablets when they were unable to find any marijuana.

The girl apparently consumed 12 of the pills, the males taking six each.

Sullivan will be returned to the Superior Court of Judge Leland Nielsen for further proceedings after the 90-day period.

Helix Pair Learn Ropes In Politics

Two Helix students learned what government and politics are all about last summer when they attended Boys' and Girls' State.

Chris DeGaetano, daughter of Pat DeGaetano, 2752 New Jersey, Lemon Grove, and Doug Kroll, were chosen by their counselors on the basis of academic, leadership and personality qualities.

Boys' and Girls' State are two separate activities sponsored by the American Legion. Boys' State was held at Sacramento, and Girls' State was held on the University of California at Davis Campus in San Francisco.

"It was like being in a brand new state," said Chris. "We had our own cities, political parties, campaign slogans, even our own Girls' State money."

The keynote was participation. Anyone could run for any office, from governor of the state to the City Sanitation Engineer.

"I think women should play a more active role in politics," Chris said.

Chris found that the girls had new and fresh ideas about politics, and she hopes to see some of them put to use.

Askev told County News Assn. that there has already been success in getting community mental health facility directors to consider attempting to help young people addicted or close to addiction before they are arrested.

The health director, however, sees the county role as a coordinating agency with the primary function of convincing young people that the way to turn off is to not turn on or experiment in the first place.

Q—Last summer when I went to school under the G.I. Bill, I was confused by the hours shown on the attendance card. I was only taking three semester hours, yet on the card it showed 15. Why is this?

A—Since summer school is an accelerated session, payment is based on standard class sessions rather than semester hours. You had 15 standard class session per week.

However, to avoid confusion, this year the card will show the actual semester hours. You will still be paid on the number of standard class sessions.

Acid Aids Oranges

FRESNO — Citrus growers may now apply gibberellic acid on navel oranges during October and November to delay rind aging and reduce rind disorders.

Growers were formerly restricted to applications after December 1.

The authorization came from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This spray thinning produces the firmest rind possible. Also, the earlier application can be more easily scheduled in better weather.

Growers are cautioned against making the application to navel oranges that will be harvested before March 1 and are not to apply it in a whitewash mixture.

Planners Charge Assessor Is Assessing County Land

By Dick Sims

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County Assessor E. C. Williams told the County Planning Commission on Friday that it is not his office that determines land use or zoning patterns, but that market values could influence land use.

Williams and the commissioners met in a conversational session for coffee and a discussion of whether the assessor or the commission is the most effective in determining land use.

Commission Chairman Warren Hooper, who raises poultry in Ramona and El Cajon, has said in a number of meetings lately that the assessor is zoning the county.

He says, as assessments rise, the land owners want to break down large lot zoning patterns for development so that the return on their projects or land sales will be profitable.

Williams said, perhaps ten times in the hour-long meeting, "It's not me, it's the state law that requires assessed values of property to be 25 percent of the market value of the land and improvements."

"We do not determine the assessment, the market does. Our assessments tend to follow market trends by a few months because of staff limitations, but it is what land will sell for in a free market that determines its values."

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I've signed up for courses in shorthand so I can get a secretarial job. Can I deduct this expense?

A—Tax law does not permit deductions for educational expenses which qualify you for a new trade or business or enable you to meet the minimum requirements in your present job. However, a deduction can be taken if the course is required by your present employer to keep the job you have or to maintain and improve the skills required on your present job.

For more details on education expenses, send a post card to your District Director and ask for Publication 508, Tax Information on Educational Expenses. The booklet is free.

Q—I filed the card form 1040A last year. What will the new tax form mean to someone like me?

A—Unless your situation has changed from what it was last year, you will probably need only the one-page Form 1040. Over 30 million taxpayers will be able to file just this single page form and this total includes most of the 19 million like yourself who filed the card form last year.

Q—My son is working his way through college. Will the amount he earns affect our exemption for him?

A—The amount of his earnings will not effect the dependency exemption if he is under 19 at year end or a full-time student during five months of the year. However, the other dependency tests must continue to be met.

Your son's earnings used for his support should be included in total support in determining whether you provided over half his support.

Q—Can you take a deduction for custom duties paid on gifts bought in Europe?

A—No, custom duties are not deductible.

Q—Is there any Social Security tax on household help when you pay $50 a quarter but divide it between two people?

A—No, you are liable for the tax only when you pay one person $50 or more cash wages in a calendar quarter.

Q—I'm buying U. S. Savings Bonds to help pay for my son's education. Can I arrange this so that I don't have to pay tax on the interest?

A—The interest earned on a savings bond should be reported by the owner of the bond. If you purchase the bonds in your child's name as owner then a tax liability will be his. Unless the interest earned on the bonds and his other income amounts to $600 or more for the year, no return need be filed by him.

If you have your child elect to report the bond interest each year rather than wait until the year they are cashed in, then your child should file a return showing this bond interest the first year you start the plan. No further return will be required until the child has $600 or more income a year. Keep a copy of this first return to show that an election has been made to report the interest on a yearly basis.

Boney Urges Help By Sheriff In Border Search

County Supervisor Henry A. Boney urged the Board to "authorize the use of Sheriff's Department personnel to assist customs officers in their search for illicit drugs at the Tecate and San Ysidro border crossings."

"Operation Intercept", the search of automobiles and individuals crossing the border into San Diego County has created traffic stoppage and inconvenience to citizens on both sides of the border.

"Sheriff's officers could assist in border search operations, thereby speeding up the flow of visitors across the border and eliminating much of the inconvenience," Boney said.

Boney said that County officers would only be used subject to the availability of such personnel and at the discretion of the Sheriff.

Panel Talks On Prison, Cops, Dope

Southwestern College will host a panel discussion of "Prison-Dope, and Cops" with two former ex-cons, a Professor of Urban Studies from San Diego State and a member of the San Diego Police Department.

The panel is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday in Mayan Hall and the public is invited to attend and participate in the question and answer session.

The two principal speakers are Bob Hayes, and Carl Rucker, both former San Quentin inmates who are currently on parole from the penal institution.

Hayes, who is associated with the Community Achievement and Improvement group (CAIG) will speak on community understanding of men in prison who are awaiting release on parole, and rehabilitation of parolees.

"We do not formally structure any of our panel discussions," Hayes explained. "Individuals are invited to recap their own experiences and problems. Many times the discussion will lead to some solution, or at least an awareness on the part of the public of what ex-cons are really faced with."

Rucker, who has spent 21 of his 31 years in custody of some form, is a native of San Diego and was sent to prison three separate times by a local magistrate for possession of heroin. His general area of discussion will cover the true problems of punishment for drug possession both in and out of prison.

Rucker is currently employed by the California Youth Authority at the Good Samaritan Home in Corona for boys in the 12-17 year age bracket.

Professor Gitchoff and Officer Kelly will act as resource persons for the evening panel. The public is urged to attend and take an active part in a vital problem.
